Council Fights Traffic Problem

The Carmel City Council met last night for a brief two hours before adjourning to an executive session.

Most of the topics on the agenda were laid aside to be dealt with at a later date because the councilmen have been too busy considering budget matters to devote time to such things as disposal of fill, the Sunset policy on rentals and uses, naming 14th street, building codes, and a number of other items.

Time was given, however, to the perplexing problem of traffic congestion in our city. Councilman William Sefton was able to confer with police Chief Clyde Klaumann and together came up with a proposed solution. Sefton recommended that a sign be erected at the intersection of Carpenter and Ocean directing Monterey traffic up Carpenter and Highway 1 travellers straight ahead. This was suggested because of the terrible traffic jams at that point every week-end. Carpenter, according to Klaumann, can handle twice as much traffic as Ocean and since most traffic goes North this would help eliminate part of the problem.

Another sign will be constructed for incoming traffic from Monterey down the truck route.

The City Clerk was instructed to contact the State and County supervisor and ask that a sign be put up at Highway 1 and Del Rio Road, directing traffic into Carmel from there, rather than let them get as far as Ocean Avenue where now traffic is heaviest.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg encouraged the Council to have a sign directing the public to the Forest Theatre erected at Ocean and Mountain View. The motion carried and now the City will put up a portable sign each Sunday for this purpose and remove it until the next Forest Theatre production.

Fog Filled 4th of July

Owners of freshly acquired sunburns received a respite the 4th of July when the sun played hide and seek behind the bank of fog which settled over the beach areas.

But regardless of the lack of sun, hundreds of people met on the beaches that night to continue the tradition of sitting beside warm campfires to watch fireworks demonstrations. The thick fog took much of the glamour and spectacle away from the display at Del Monte Forest. As it hung overhead, the rockets and aerial bombs shot

The future we have invested in our youth is expressed in this original oil by Doris Rohr who was commissioned to paint Jim Brown as he stands thoughtfully gazing out to sea. Resident Tom Brown, father of Jim, selected this painting for the cover of the Carmel Rotary Club bulletin, 'The Spokesman' because not only does it indicate our dedication to the young, but it represents Carmel as the artist's colony by the sea.

Carmel High School Summer Humanities Program

A unique opportunity to explore the contributions by ethnic and racial minorities in America such as our Indians, Negroes, Mexican-Americans and Jewish people, is being afforded over 40 enthusiastic boys and girls at Brey Hall this summer. The humanities course is being led by Bill Stone, art, Peter Lyon, history, and Ethelyne Ward, English, teachers working together cooperatively. Thrown open to the community, there have been many visitors to the class which lasts from 8:30 to 12:30 each day for the next two weeks.

A discussion of creativity, considered by many leaders in American thought to be the most priceless commodity anyone can possess and the most easily stifled by regimentation, began the course last week. Students were encouraged to evaluate themselves critically in connection with such questions as "What is the good man . . . the good society? Who is the man next door? What is the nature of his world?" The knowledge and skills a student may obtain from the course are not as important as the attitudes and values he may develop.

The class went on to evaluate "Porgy and Bess" based on life in the southeastern part of the United States, and poetry, humor and blues of the Negro. It listened to records of "Fiddler on the Roof," the musical based on old Jewish customs in New York City. Students of Jewish background were interested in comparing notes with family members. On Friday the class explored the arts in nature at Carmel River Beach.

Slides of Indian rock paintings were shown on Monday, and there was an option hour, as there is nearly every day, of art, music or literature. A discussion of "Genesis" took place on Wednesday and of James Weldon Johnson's "The Creation."

Today there was an all day field trip to San Francisco to visit Grace Cathedral and the De Young Museum to see the Brundage collection of Oriental Art. After lunch in Chinatown, the students were to be conducted on a personal tour of Temple Emmanuel by its rabbi. The day will end with a visit to the Japanese Tea Garden.

Friday, slides will be shown of primitive paintings by Harry Liebermann, the Jewish artist who did not start painting until his 70's. Miss Chelsea Miller, a student, will show her collection of Indian religious objects. The class will also listen to recordings of Hebraic chants, and Indian and Hebrew prayers will be read and compared.

In as much as Carmel students have so few opportunities to come in contact with members of minority groups, the Carmel Unified School District feels that such a course is important to prepare young people for the increasingly varied, urban society of today.

Few Bach Festival Tickets Remain

Under the magic baton of Maestro Sandor Salgo, the thirtieth annual Carmel Bach Festival will offer a varied and stimulating program of Baroque music.

It will open on Friday evening, July 21, with an all Bach program, the Cantata No. 80, and the Concerto for violin in A minor by Johann Sebastian Bach, and the Magnificat by his son, Carl Philipp Emanuel Bach. This will be followed in later concerts by the music of Telemann, Vivaldi, Mozart, Haydn, Boismortier, Carissimi and Cavalli. Handel's great oratorio, "Saul," will conclude the series.

The complete reading of Johann Sebastian Bach's mighty Passion according to St. John will be presented twice during the 1967 Carmel Bach Festival, on Sunday afternoon, July 23, and again on Sunday afternoon, July 30.

This dramatic work of the great master will be performed with the Bach Festival Orchestra, Chorus, Choral and distinguished soloists under the baton of Sandor Salgo, Conductor-Director of the Festival for the twelfth year. The Passion, seldom heard in its entirety with its stirring choruses and moving solos, marked the high point of the 1963 Festival.

First of the Bach Passions, the St. John is a striking mixture of the didactic and almost violently graphic realism depicting the story of the Crucifixion with a mixture of compassion, malevolence and human dignity that is timeless.

The role of Jesus in this year's presentation will be sung by Thomas Paul, leading basso in his fourth season with the New York City Opera. James Schwabacher of San Francisco, long known to Bach audiences, will sing the role of the Evangelist.

Festival dates are July 21 to July 30. The few remaining tickets for single performances may be purchased at the Bach Festival Headquarters, at Sunset Center, North Building, on San Carlos between 8th and 10th streets. Hours are 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

PAMELA BALDWIN AND CLYDE KLAUMANN

Baldwin-Klaumann Nuptials

The Church of the Wayfarer, decorated with white spider mums and gladiola candelabras, was the setting for the early afternoon wedding of Pamela Baldwin and Clyde Roy Klaumann on Saturday, June 24. Pamela is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Baldwin, and Clyde is the son of Carmel Police Chief and Mrs. Clyde Klaumann. The Reverend Alexander C. Bryans officiated and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Pamela wore a gown of French organza and Alencon lace styled with empire waist and sabrina neckline, the bell sleeves edged with French lace. The very new A line scissors skirt had a Watteau train attached with a huge bow, which swept into a circular chapel length enhanced by lace motifs. Her Enrlich illusion veil which fell to her elbows, was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations, centered with a white orchid.

Pamela chose for her matron of honor her sister Susan, Mrs. R. C. Johnson, and for her bridal attendants, another sister, Kathy Baldwin, and Dereth Cox, both of Carmel and Mrs. E. V. Hodgkinson of Long Beach. They wore floor length gowns of dotted Swiss in mint green, the empire bodices of which had square necklines and short sleeves. A band of ruching bordered the envelope backs and hemlines. Their headpieces were matching clusters with three tier veils and they carried carnations and white spider mums tied with green ribbon.

Clyde chose for his best man, Harold Benadom of Pacific Grove, and for his ushers, Robert Leidig of Corvallis, Oregon, David Tobiasen and Jim Baldwin of Carmel, and Hampton Stewart III of Pebble Beach.

The reception in Fellowship Hall which was decorated with summer flowers in pastel shades was attended by 300 relatives and friends. Miss Shohni Spicer was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's mother wore a mint green worsted sheath with lace motifs, matching coat and accessories, with green orchid corsage. Mrs. Klaumann wore a yellow ribbon lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Hurd of Hanford, California, the bride's maternal grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Baldwin of El Nido, California, her paternal grandparents, were present at the wedding as was Clyde's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Roy Benadom of Monterey.

Both graduates of Carmel elementary and high schools, Pamela attended Monterey Peninsula College and has been serving as assistant director of the Carmel Youth Center. Clyde took his degree at Humboldt State College and attended at Harvard University summer session. He is a teacher at Carmel Middle School.

For their two week wedding trip to Hawaii, Pamela left in a green linen sheath and jacket with accessories to match, and wore an orchid corsage. On their return, the couple will live at 37 Mission Fields Road.

The program, free to the public, is sponsored jointly by the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and the local chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army, and will include patriotic music, as did last summer's presentation.

The following Sunday (July 16th), a new organization known as the Peninsula Performing Arts group, will appear on the Forest Theater's broad outdoor stage. Members of the group include Axel Duwe, Dale Lefler, Kira Ivanovsky, and Robert Evans. Featured in the presentation of the group, will be Jeff Kessler, pianist, who will perform the J. S. Bach Italian Concerto, Dances, arranged by Lefler and Mme. Ivanovsky, will be seen, as will an excerpt from a Carmel Studio Theatre play.

Six Carmel Students Leave For World Sing-Out

Bryan Cronwall reports that he and his sister Nancy as well as Nancy Otter, Paula Wilhelm, Tania Williams and Claudia Jones will be among 20 members of Monterey Sing-Out who will attend the World Sing-Out Festival at David's Island, New Rochelle, N. Y. They left this morning for Los Angeles where they spend the night in private homes and then they will fly East in a chartered plane. Some will stay two weeks or longer. Others, such as Julia Fehring of Carmel and Emmy Laurens, Arianne Bowman and Cathy Bingham of Carmel Valley are doing, will travel in national casts.

Joanne Fehring is up at Bear Creek in Yosemite Park with several other Sing-Out members helping build the new Sing-Out conference center. Last summer a group of 60 attended a conference in Estes Park, Colorado and at Christmas five of them went to a conference in Santa Fe, New Mexico. There have been many out of town singing dates all over the state, but in the meantime and on through summer, rehearsals continue to take place at Pacific Grove Junior High Schools on Fridays from 7 to 10.

Summer School Program Filled With Activities and Beautiful Music

The exciting "four-ring circus" at the Stevenson School this summer, with courses in music, art, economics, English and a host of other subjects, is supplemented with a number of special evening and weekend activities.

MUSIC: Starting at 6:30 a.m. every day, and far into the night, the Hidden Valley Music students practice and rehearse their concerts and choral selections. Last Sunday evening, in the famous Erdman Memorial Chapel, the boys and girls gave a public "dress-up" performance in the first of a series of summer HIDDEN VALLEY CHAPEL CONCERTS.

Dedicated to John S. Waddell, a leading instructor at the school, the program included choral and organ selections such as, "Nun Danket Alle Gott" and Bach's Sonata No. 1. The orchestra, under the direction of Michael Zearott, presented selections from Vivaldi's "Gloria" and Beethoven's Symphony No. 2 in D Major. The prelude, on chapel organ and chimes, was given by Stephen Tosh of the Juilliard School of Music. Coffee was served to guests and students during intermission and preceding the program.

NEXT SUNDAY: A similar concert of unusual quality, both orchestra and choral in the classics, will be presented next Sunday at 8:00 p.m. The public is invited to attend with coffee being served at 7:30 p.m. Six more concerts will be given this summer, all open to the public. "Magnificent" is one of the milder comments from "first nighters."

REGULAR SUMMER SESSION WEEKENDS: Last Saturday the boys went to Sand Dollar Beach south of Big Sur for a day of hiking and exploring. This is the first in a month long series of weekend activities that include a baseball game on July 8 at Candlestick Park in San Francisco for a Giants-Dodgers slugfest; a two day campout at Big Sur on July 15th and 16th; a choice of the Pinnacles State Monument, deep sea fishing, or the Rodeo in Salinas on July 22; and a choice of a trip to the Hearst Castle at San Simeon or a trip to Roaring Camp at Felton on the 29th.

Of course, it was a grand-old "Fourth of July" picnic last Tuesday as hot dogs, beach football and fireworks celebrated our Country's Birthday on the Pebble Beach shoreline.

It's not all study and work. MR. RICKLEFFS: Among his many important trips in the past weeks, President Robert U. Rickleffs has recently returned from a special conference in Washington D.C. at the invitation of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. The meeting, held for leading educators and community leaders in the United States, was a briefing on American Foreign Policy. Mr. Rickleffs will

Carmel Forest Theatre Embarks Upon New Season

The oldest outdoor community theater in the United States—Carmel's beautiful Forest Theater will again this summer, offer free Sunday afternoon programs.

Except for the war years, this natural amphitheater in the pines has been in almost yearly operation since 1910 when one-time Carmel mayor, poet, actor, director, businessman Herbert Heron guided the founding of the Forest Theater on land first loaned by, then purchased from the Carmel Development Company which was headed by the late Frank Powers, co-founder of modern-day Carmel.

Fourteen world premieres of plays by playwrights who achieved national and international renown, have been presented on the broad outdoor stage of the Forest Theater, the proscenium of which is framed by two giant Monterey pines.

The first play given in the Forest Theater, back in 1910, was "David," an original work by a noted writer of the day, the late Constance Lindsay Skinner, who was then residing in Carmel. Among the distinguished writers whose plays were premiered in the Forest Theater are: Ruth Austin, "Fire;" Jack London, "The First Poet;" Sidney Howard, "Sons of Spain;" and Cale Young Rice, "Yolanda of Cyprus" (which, by the way, was later presented in grand opera form in Chicago and New York).

One of the Forest Theater's greatest moments came when, in 1941, the world premiere of "Tower Beyond Tragedy," by the late Robinson Jeffers, with the famous Broadway actress Judith Anderson playing the lead, was first seen on its great outdoor stage.

The presentation only two years ago at the Forest Theater of the John Patrick, unit play, "The Teahouse of the August Moon," brings to mind that the first play by Patrick was first produced in Carmel. (It's title: "Glory Lane.")

Now owned and operated by the City of Carmel to which it was deeded in the late Thirties by the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts, the Forest Theater has, in recent seasons, been the scene of varied experiments in outdoor theater and concert activity. Emerging individual artists and performing groups have been seen in the summer Sunday afternoon series, presented free of charge to the public by the City of Carmel through its arts commission.

Events presented have ranged from chamber music, to piano and violin soloists, to folk songs and folk dancing, to Scottish pipers, to readings of Robinson Jeffers poetry, to long-loved children's plays such as last summer's many times repeated "Mr. Bunt," another original play written in Carmel by the late Ira Repson.

Because a recent City Council action terminated the Carmel Arts Commission as such, while the summer Forest Theater program was in preparation, a special mayor-appointed committee was directed to present this season's Forest Theater series. Committee members all former city arts commissioners are: Barbara Nöllberg, Mausita Jennings and Joseph Danys.

Following is the schedule of Forest Theater programs for this summer (afternoons unless otherwise specified):

July 16 Peninsula Performing Arts program presented by members

July 23 Ishvani, East Indian dancing.

July 30 Ballet Angene Feves with a Company of eight from Oakland Ballet, Beyer String Trio accompanying.

Aug. 6 Beyer String Trio with guest artists Fred Schaad, piano; Wade Parks, piano; John Erickson, violin; and a classical guitarist. Donated by Local 616, Musician's Union.

Aug. 13 William Taylor, master magician; students from San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

Aug. 20 Highland Pipers, Nancy Lang and Marcia Rider—Scottish Dances

Aug. 25, 26, 27 (evening) "Oliver" co-sponsored by Carmel Unified School District Rec. Dept.

Nepal Wedding For Kathy Aldrich

Miss Kathy Aldrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Aldrich of Carmel, last week announced her engagement to Robert Douglas Wolfe of Portland, Oregon.

Kathy, who is a 1960 graduate of Carmel High School and graduated from the University of California at Davis in 1965, will be leaving the United States around the first of August to join her future husband in Kath Mandu, Nepal where he is in the Peace Corps.

For the past several years Kathy has been teaching Spanish in Carmichael, California and last week she received her notice to again go to the Davis campus for school, this time for six weeks of training for her duties as a teacher in the Peace Corps.

As the plans stand now, Kathy and Doug plan to be married as soon as she arrives in Nepal and then go to their base in Kath Mandu where she will take over her teaching duties in the home economics classes while he will instruct the natives in rice growing.

"Doug has been in Nepal since April and has been keeping house and raising chickens and vegetables in fine style" Kathy stated. "I'm glad he went first as I'm hoping he will find any cobras in our house BEFORE I arrive" she added with a laugh.

Both Kathy and Doug will be in Nepal for the next two years with the Peace Corps, after which they will return to the United States.

The Complete Gardener

a regular diet of information having to do with plants

Who among us would not like to enjoy the success of raising that most attractive and highly-fragrant plant, the gardenia? Is there a secret to its culture? First of all, let's look back into history. This plant was discovered and first classified by Alexander Garden and named in his honor. Its native habitat is the sub-tropical regions of the Eastern Hemisphere. That means heat, and also humidity. Gardenia is a member of the great Madder family from which we get coffee, dyes, and many medicines. Most of these plants are tropicals. So we must arrive at the conclusion that climate plays a big part. Let's find a warm, protected spot and, during the dry months, we'll douse the foliage with water on hot days. Too much water in the soil will cause the plant to rebel. So a container filled with rich material that drains well is recommended. A fortified potting soil to which has been added one-fourth part of steer manure. Keep the container fairly small, so that the roots will be crowded. Many gardenias are lost when placed in a pot or tub that's too large.

The gardenia is a heavy feeder during the growing season and prefers a complete, acid fertilizer. Cottonseed meal can be mixed into the potting soil as a starter, then small weekly feedings of fish emulsion or soluble plant food. To promote hardiness and blooming use 0-10-10 monthly from mid-July through February. Gardenias are iron-eaters, too, and some super-fertilize during the growing season will help to maintain a glossy, green foliage.

A Watsonville reader has "several clematis plants that do not produce many flowers. What should I feed them?" There are many species of this vine, but the basic growing habits are somewhat alike. Be sure that your clematis has a "sweet" soil. Mix bone meal into the hole when planting and give it some agricultural lime each year. If your soil and water are acid, two applications of lime (April and October). Clematis prefers morning sun, afternoon shade, and cool roots. If yours is an evergreen variety it grows more slowly and resents heavy pruning. The deciduous types are rank producers and can be trimmed severely in the early spring. Among those which produce bloom on new wood are Jackmanii (purple), Henryi (white), and Paniculata, the late-flowering variety with clusters of white flowers. So it's best to know which kinds you have and to avoid cutting off the blooming wood, whether old or new. Any general purpose fertilizer can be used and blue planting tablets are fine. To

Q. Would there be any provision for payment of costs of treatment in hospitals outside the United States? I will be visiting Canada and will attend the "EXPO 67" in Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

A. Payment may be made to hospitals outside the United States for emergency inpatient services given to health insurance beneficiaries under certain conditions. First, the individual must be physically present in the United States at the time the emergency occurred which necessitated the inpatient hospital services. Second, the foreign hospital must be closer to, or substantially more accessible from the place where the emergency occurred than the nearest hospital in the United States which was adequately equipped and was available for the treatment of the individual's illness or injury.

If the person's reason for going to the foreign hospital is to obtain rapid treatment at the nearest and most accessible hospital, the intent of the law is met. A noncovered situation could occur where the person's departure from the United States is part of a trip abroad, so that the hospital is more "accessible" simply because he was involved in the processes of such travel. For example, the airplane on which he was traveling was already enroute and could not readily return to permit the person's removal.

Stone Carvings By C. B. Johnson

A passionate belief in the enduring beauty of marble has earned C. B. Johnson a unique place in American art.

Villagers will have an opportunity, until July 20, to visit Galerie De Tours to appreciate the work of this excellent sculptor.

As Dean Wallace of the San Francisco Chronicle said: "Sculptor C. B. Johnson has discovered, to everyone's delight, that modern art can wear a warm and cheery smile without looking foolish," a perfect statement in this day and age when the patience, planning and ability to carve stone has gone relatively unappreciated.

Regardless of this seeming indifference, C. B. Johnson goes calmly about his mission of carving quiet beauty for those who love the sight and touch of fine grained stone. However, a series of one-man shows in museums and galleries on the West Coast has established an appreciative audience.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jersey

"French Food is so Good!"

To be introduced at a gala buffet dinner is the appealing new cook booklet "c'est si bon!", sponsored by l'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula for its Scholarship Fund. Josette Casanova Pitfield, wife of Lt. Com. Pitfield, compiled this gem of recipes donated by members of the local organization. Bastille Day will be celebrated on Sunday July 16 at the Carmel Valley Inn, so come out and acquire your copy of "c'est si bon!" Party Plans doles on unusually good cook books. In this case we find that the best dishes come in small sizes.

thyme. Mix well together. Put into oiled meat loaf size mold; line bottom with thin slices of salt pork. Decorate top with pieces of bay leaves. Preheat oven to 350F. Bake one hour or until cooked through. Serve with aperitifs on small slices of buttered French party bread.

From Mme. Jean-Elie Barbaro

Poulet (Chicken)
a la Pierre Salinger

Mme. Jerome Carlson, co-president of the local Alliance, says "This recipe is from my oldest son Pierre and I have used it with much success".

One and a half cups good dry red wine; $\frac{1}{2}$ cup hot liquid mustard made from 2 tbsps. dry mustard mixed with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water; 1 cup Sauterne wine; $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups soya sauce; 5 broiler chickens, halved.

Combine liquid ingredients and blend well. Marinate chicken halves in this piquant sauce for 2 hours. Grill on charcoal brazier over glowing coals about 45 minutes until cooked through. Turn and baste with marinade. The baking or oven broiling method is also good although the maximum flavor is obtained by cooking over charcoal. The sauce is what makes the difference, Jehanne Bietry-Salinger Carlson assures us.

Josette's Crevettes au Four

(Shrimp in Rice Ring)

One lb. medium cooked shrimp; 1 pkg. frozen artichoke hearts; $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced; 2 tbsps. butter; 1 tbsp. Worcester-shire sauce; $\frac{1}{4}$ cups dry sherry; $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups cream sauce; $\frac{1}{4}$ cup grated Parmesan cheese; salt, pepper, dash of paprika; cooked rice, chopped parsley.

Arrange artichokes in buttered baking dish. Put peeled and deveined shrimp on top. Sauté sliced mushrooms in butter; then distribute over shrimp. Add seasonings to cream sauce and pour over contents of casserole. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and bake 20 minutes in 350 F. oven. A ring of flaky white cooked rice, mixed with chopped parsley, is filled with this delicious shrimp mélange, the invention of imaginative and practical Josette Pitfield.

Germaine's Salade Nicoise

Two butter lettuce; 1 can green stringbeans; 1 can best white tuna; 2 small cans anchovies; 2 sliced hard cooked eggs; 1 can pitted ripe olives; 2 large sliced tomatoes; chopped garlic, green onion; 2 large potatoes, boiled and cut into medium slices.

At a buffet party, this tempting rice ring mold filled with shrimp, is from "c'est si bon" cimplied by Josette Casanova Pitfield.

Prepare a "sauce vinaigrette" by mixing: 2 tbsps. wine vinegar; 6 tbsps. olive oil; salt and grated peppercorns to taste; green onion, cut up.

Pour half of sauce over potatoes as soon as drained and, while still hot (peel potatoes first, then slice). Put them in center of large dish; decorate around and on top with other ingredients. Just before serving, add rest of sauce. Germaine, who is from Brussels, is very fond of this intriguing salade and gave the directions on exactly how she prepares it.

Tot fait aux Pommes
(Apple Pudding)

Three eggs; $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flour; 3 tbsps. sugar; $\frac{1}{4}$ stick butter; 1 tsp. vanilla; 3 grated peeled apples; 3 cups milk; $\frac{1}{2}$ cup dark rum.

In a bowl beat eggs, flour and sugar. Add grated apples. Mix milk with vanilla and rum. Melt butter in Pyrex pie plate. Pour the batter slowly into this and allow to thicken, then bake in pre-heated 400F. oven for about 12 minutes. Serve hot.

This easily prepared dessert is a favorite of Joelle Hathaway, co-president of the local Alliance. Que c'est bon!

Mrs. "Tor" Spindler Teaches MPC Health Course

Mrs. Kay Spindler, registered nurse and wife of Monterey Peninsula College criminology instructor-football coach Warren "Tor" Spindler, is teaching a summer school health course at the college.

Mrs. Spindler has worked at local elementary schools interspersed with her number one career as a Carmel homemaker looking after two sons and two daughters. Troy, Mark and Cathy are at Carmel High School, while Kim is an 8th grade student at Middle School.

Years before their marriage, she and Mr. Spindler went to different Berkeley high schools, passing each other on the way to school. It was in those days, she said, that her husband acquired the nickname "Tor" which sounds Scandinavian or perhaps recalls something to do with a Viking deity. "Actually, he was named after a character in the Popeye comic strip."

lace, and her husband, Alvah (Tug) Miller III, and grandchildren, Debby and Terry. While they were there, they rented a 100 year old log cabin in Brown County, a particularly picturesque part of the state. Captain Bill Wallace brought his wife and baby over to see them from Ft. Knox, Kentucky where he is stationed.

Mrs. Wasserman Holds Luncheon
Barbara Wasserman, wife of artist Jerry Wasserman, entertained at a luncheon in her home on June 15th. Guests included Mrs. Richard Brinton, Mrs. Larry Wilson, Mrs. William Timmons, Mrs. Tom Brown and Mrs. Helen Billingham.

Everyone was intrigued by the two huge bird feeders on the Wasserman's deck which attracted a parade of woodpeckers, linnets, towhees, doves, pigeons and blue jays. These provided a constant source of entertainment.

CARMEL POINT . . . CHOICE LISTING: One of the best values on the market today! Priced (firmly) at $49,500, this comfortable home, with its valuable corner site, comprises a spacious living room with expansive outlook that includes a protected courtyard-patio, dark oak floors, a fireplace with bookshelves and storage cabinets on both sides, and inside shutters; a dining-area with barbecue; a modern kitchen with built-in units; two bedrooms (master bedroom is 15' x 16'); two tiled baths and attached garage. Conservative good taste is evident throughout . . . soft wall tones, some provincial paper, simplicity in detail. Heavy shake roof, central heating and minimum-care landscaping are other "bonus" features.

HOME WITH A VIEW & INCOME: Just listed with our office exclusively is this hard-to-find property that offers very pleasant living quarters PLUS a desirable income unit on a separate level. Featuring an impressive ocean view from Point Lobos to Pescadero Point, the main unit provides living room, kitchen, two bedrooms and two baths. The smaller unit comprises living room, bedroom and bath. Approximately six years old, the property is listed for sale at $39,500.

EARLY CARMEL ATMOSPHERE SOUTH OF OCEAN AVENUE: Remodeled and redecorated to make it suitable for contemporary comfort, this older Carmel home still retains its mellow redwood charm. In addition to the 13' x 21' living room there are two bedrooms, kitchen and bath. Nearly-new central heating, and new hot water heater. Situated on level Dolores Street not far from the Mission and the bus line, this interesting "charmer" should appeal to a purchaser at its listing price of $31,000.
